Why do we need your personal information and what do we do with it?

You are giving us your personal information to allow us to process your Subject Access Request and provide you with a response. We will also need to process your personal information if you ask us to review the way that we have handled your Subject Access Request or if you make a complaint to the UK Information Commissioner. We also use your information to verify your identity where required, contact you by post, email or telephone and to maintain our records.

Legal basis for using your information:

You are entitled to make a Subject Access Request for information that we hold about you as part of our role with Glasgow City Council, as your local authority. You can find more details of the role Glasgow City Council on their website at www.glasgow.gov.uk or about City Parking on our website at www.cityparkingglasgow.co.uk

Processing your personal information is necessary for the compliance with our legal obligations under the Data Protection Act 2018. Where you provide us with more sensitive personal information about you we will process this information for reasons of substantial public interest as set out in the Data Protection Act 2018.

Who do we share your information with?

As an Arms Length External Organisation of Glasgow City Council, we are legally obliged to safeguard public funds so we are required to verify and check your details internally for fraud prevention. We may share this information with other public bodies (and also receive information from these other bodies) for fraud checking purposes. We are also legally obliged to share certain data with other public bodies, such as HMRC and will do so where the law requires this. We will also generally comply with requests for specific information from other regulatory and law enforcement bodies where this is necessary and appropriate. Your information may also be analysed internally to help us improve our services. This data sharing is in accordance with our Privacy Policy, which can be found on our website. It also forms part of our requirements in line with City Parking and Glasgow City Council's Records Management Plan approved in terms of the Public Records (Scotland) Act 2011.

Where you make a complaint to the UK Information Commissioner we are legally obliged to share your information with them

How long do we keep your information for?

We only keep your personal information for the minimum period amount of time necessary. Sometimes this time period is set out in the law, but in most cases it is based on the business need. We maintain a records retention and disposal schedule which sets out how long we hold different types of information for.

You can view this on our website at www.cityparkingglasgow.co.uk/dataprotection or you can request a hard copy from the contact address stated above.

Your rights under data protection law:

- Access to your information – you have the right to request a copy of the personal information that we hold about you.
- Correcting your information – we want to make sure that your personal information is accurate, complete and up to date. Therefore you may ask us to correct any personal information about you that you believe does not meet these standards.
- Deletion of your information – you have the right to ask us to delete personal information about you were:
 - I. you think that we no longer need to hold the information for the purposes for which it was originally obtained.
 - II. We are using that information with your consent and you have withdrawn your consent – see Withdrawing consent to using your information below [delete if not on basis of consent]
 - III. You have a genuine objection to our use of your personal information – see objecting to how we may use your information below
 - IV. Our use of your personal information is contrary to law or our other legal obligations.

Objecting to how we may use your information – You have the right at any time to tell us to stop using your personal information for direct marketing purposes.

Restricting how we may use your information – in some cases, you may ask us to restrict how we use your personal information. This right might apply, for example, where we are checking the accuracy of personal information that we hold about you or we are assessing the objection you have made to our use of your information. This right might also apply if we no longer have a basis for using your personal information but you don't want us to delete the data. Where this right is realistically applied will mean that we may only use the relevant personal information with your consent, for legal claims or where there are other public interest grounds to do so.

Complaints:

We aim to directly resolve all complaints about how we handle personal information. However, you also have the right to lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner's Office, who can be contacted by post at: Information Commissioner's Office, Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, Cheshire, SK9 5AF.
